

NUCLEUS

Fell Hall — beauty spat af architecture, nucleus af campus life far freshman wamen — and men. Study haurs, gay parties, and banquets cantribute ta the residence hall's pattern far demacratic living.

Last years af Old Main — her halls and staircases will lang remain as favarite meeting places far seventh haur rendezvaus. Since the days af Charles Havey, she has haused the administrative staff and guarded the business transactions af a university.

Art displays, the museum, plus music and brawsing raams cambine with graduate research and the grinding brain cells af the undergrad ta make Milner the care af campus learning.

Hame Management Hause — where practice makes perfect hame ecanamics teachers.

Narth Hall — anciently remadeled hub far English and geagraphy. The presidential assistant resides in her basement, and publication plans take farm in third stary affices amid falling plaster and leaking walls.

Dean H. H. Schroeder

Excellent administrators are both born with oustanding qualities and made as the result af education and practice of certain principles. Dean Schroeder was an example of this complete cambinatian. He saw things in the large and yet could deal with details. A school could not have had a more tireless worker. There was always a jab to be done and the clack did nat limit his duties. The welfare of the school came first. As Dean he was the internal President of the University. With his unusual ability to organize, to deal fairly with situations, to do a masterful job in programming, he was of untold value to the President of the University.

His success as an administrator might imply weakness as a scholar and teacher. Such an implication was not true for he was a real student and a masterful teacher especially in the fields of philosophy and ethics. As a result, he was in great demand as a teacher of courses both on and aff campus even after his retirement. His teaching up to within a few days of his death was evidence af his desire to be of service. Mr. Schroeder was never happier than when before a class. An earnest, true and enthusiastic fallower of the great philosopher, Immanuel Kant, he frequently wrote for leading philosophical journals. But teaching and writing were not the only evidences of his scholarly attainments. Those wha heard the masterful cammencement address he gave on June 14, 1943 will long remember the presentation of his subject, "War, Peace, and Education."

A characterization of the qualities of Mr. Schroeder would be incamplete without mentianing those aspects that make successful deans and teachers — human qualities. Never too busy to talk over problems with students, giving many years as the custodian and disbursing agent of the student laan funds, for over twenty-five years sponsor af Kappa Delta Pi, always ready for a talk at the Fall Stag of the University Club, interested in student activities and never forgetting the days when he was a coach — these and similar citations reveal the warm human qualities of one capable in many areas.

Whether as a dean, scholar, teacher or just a genuine human being, the work of Mr. Schroeder will live long and leave a marked imprint on those fortunate enough to come in contact with him. We shall all be the better for his having lived and worked among us.—Dr. R. W. Fairchild.

In Memoriam

Miss Christine Theone's life was one af devotion ta family, to friends, to church, and ta schaol. Hers was a layalty toward the teaching profession and toward those engaged with her in the work at Illinais State Normal University. Hers was a generosity open to the needs af others at any sacrifice of herself. Many college students and many children will always remember with gratitude Miss Thoene's understanding and timely help. — Miss Huberta Clemans.

President's Message

Let us all look back with the present graduating class to the freshman class of 700 new students entering I.S.N.U. in the fall of 1946. This class was the first since before the war to indicate a return to larger enrollments of pre-war years. With the hold-over freshmen, the class had 934 students, or over 50 percent of the total enrollment of 1800. For the first time in ninety years, I.S.N.U. men formed practically half of the total enrollment.

And now in June and August of 1950 between five and six hundred graduates will leave the University after most of them have lived through and helped to make four years of interesting campus history, not to mention their contact with important changes in political, industrial and social history.

Most noticeable of the changes on campus have been those of the physical plant. The completion of the Administration Building, the construction of the unique Special Education Building, the acquisition of land for the enlargement of the University Farm where more buildings have been erected, and the erection of nine classroom and shop structures of temporary nature are but part of the growth during the past four years. It is possible that before this school year is concluded ground may be broken for two new dormitories and work soon will start on a south wing and new top floor for Fell Hall.

But as significant as have been these changes, along with the acquisition of new equipment, ranging from that for classrooms and laboratories to furnishings for Fell and Smith Halls to automotive equipment, there are new conditions under which students work of utmost importance. The reorganization of the Student Council and the attack upon such problems as the building of a student union, changes in University organization and curriculum already exerting influence on I.S.N.U. graduates and destined to place them in greater demand — such as the inauguration of off-campus student teaching on a larger scale, the addition of over fifty faculty members, the development of the Graduate School and expansion of the new field of Special Education — these are just a few of the many changes making a greater and better I.S.N.U. As this school year ends and it appears that the right of I.S.N.U. to educate teachers of vocational agriculture is to be granted and that membership in the American Association of University Women may be forthcoming, truly the cup of accomplishment and satisfaction may be full but still able to hold the challenge for further accomplishments.

ONCE - AND NOW

Once I thought it mattered greatly
Where my pathway chanced to lie.
Now I know not hills nor valleys
Make a man to live or die.

Once I felt 'twas of great moment Who companioned all my days. Now I know — not you nor others But myself must walk my ways.

Once I thought my heart was broken.

Joy was crushed by bitterness.

Now I know 'twas but the strengthening

Of my soul for sterner stress.

Once when you had left me lonely,
Scorned my love, cast me aside,
I was sure I loved you only —
Sure all love in me had died.

Now I know my heart but greatened In those days of agony So that loss of you, my darling, Opened worlds of love to me.

MINE!

This is mine. For one swiftly fleeting instant This is mine. The tiny shell I hold dripping in the palm of my hand; The shiny quivering moon-path That stretches across The inky black of the velvet lake; The high vaulting heavens That reach to infinity far above me; The soft brushing kiss From the sensuous lips Of the one beside me -Oh, dear God, Is it selfish for me to say, "This is mine"? For one swiftly fleeting instant Is this mine?

1950 HOMECOMING

Queen Hildegarde Fosse

Homecoming, November 3 through 6, brought warm, clear weather and a kaleidoscope of color to the campus. The melodramatic mood of "Hazel Kirke" was accentuated between acts by "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie" and by candy sales with prizes. Torches and the traditional bonfire lighted the snake dancers; later a chrysanthemumspotted crowd watched the Redbirds and the Huskies vie for a victory which evaded both teams.

Honors flourished: blonde, blue-eyed Hildegarde Fosse was crowned queen at the two dances; the Nature Study Club received first place for its decorated house showing the Huskies' retreat to "northern Holmes"; and the Jesters, as well as the Special Education Club, copped awards for their entries in the parade.

The Football Season

With 17 lettermen returning for the 1949 season, the Illinois State Normal Redbirds entered McCormick Field September 24 with anxiety as to what possibilities the 1949 season might present. The 339 yards gained rushing were more than enough to overwhelm Indiana State 28-0, and the tally set the Redbirds up as a contender for the I.I.A.C. title. The next Saturday, Coach Edwin Struck gave fans and sports writers cause to sit up and take notice when his team battered Millikin's Big Blue with a second half rush 13-0.

A 7-6 defeat at the hands of Eastern Illinois stunned the Normal team in their first I.I.A.C. fray, but Southern received the full force of their fury, which swept Normal to a 35-0 victory.

Playing the Western's Homecoming game at Macomb, the Birds went down fighting before a terrific second-half Western team, 19-14. A 14-0 defeat of highly-touted Butler brought Normal stock to the top again, but, as has been a long-standing custom, our Homecoming battle with Northern ended in a 14-14 tie. The annual Normal-Wesleyan game was a hard-fought battle, with Illinois State winning 29-0.

The backfield built around co-Captain John Dal Santo was fast and versatile, and the hard charging line, bulwarked by Banks, carried the Red and White to another highly successful season. Dal Santo, running from the fullback position, was the only unanimous choice on the all-conference team. Dick Baldrini, blocking back, received the William McAndrew trophy as the most valuable player in the conference. Banks at end, Swartout at tackle, and Burridge at left half were other Redbird All-Conference selections.

SEASON STARTS WITH TWO VICTORIES, ONE LOSS

I.S.N.U. 28 — Indiana State 0 in the Season Opener

State Normal	7	0	7	14 — 28

Illinois State Normal Redbirds combined speed around the ends with a pile-driving attack through the line to smash Indiana State 28-0 in the opening game of the season.

Completing only 3 of 13 passes, the Birds had a field day on the turf. A superb Normal line opened up holes all afternoon as Dean Burridge, Dick Baldrini, John Dal Santo, Tony Licocci, and Milt Kadlec thundered through for spectacular yardage.

Post-game statistics showed that this tremendous total amounted to 339 yards on the ground for I.S.N.U. as contrasted with only 44 for the Sycamores.

Birds Maul Millikin, 13-0

Thwarted by their own errors for three quarters, State Normal's Redbirds finally co-ordinated their efforts in the final period to beat James Millikin University 13-0 at Decatur.

Dick Baldrini, the Cardinal's blocking back, took over the offensive burden for John Dal Santo, who sat out most of the game with a broken knuckle. Baldrini made both touchdowns, skirting right end from the three and plowing down the middle 14 yards for the second. Dean Burridge placekicked the 13th point.

Eastern Noses Normal, 7-6

State Normal	0	0	0	6. — 6.
Eastern	0	0	7	0 — 7

The Normal Redbirds rolled up 18 first downs, against Eastern's seven, gained 244 yards to Eastern's 105, but came out on the short end of a 7-6 score in the first I.I.A.C. fray for both teams.

Frustration was the keynote of I.S.N.U.'s loss, as they practically fumbled away their every scoring chance. Eastern's T D was the result of a blocked punt, which was recovered in the end zone. Bob Musselman booted the extra point.

Dick Baldrini made a difficult grab of a Frank Chiodo toss from the 12 for Normal's only score.

John Dal Santo led the Red and White to a bruising 35-0 victory over the Southern Maroons in the annual "dedication to dear old Dad," and the second I.I.A.C. fray.

Dal Santo scored two touchdowns, cutting over tackle from the 32 and going all the way in the early minutes of the second quarter. He later crushed over from the 5. Lloyd Atterberry, Frank Chiodo, and Milt Kadlec each contributed one, and Dean Burridge booted 5 conversions.

The statistics showed Normal gained 385 yards to Southern's 123, indicating that the Redbirds were still a champion contender in the I.I.A.C.

Western Nudges Normal, 19-14

I.S.N.U.							7	0	7	0 — 14
Western							6	6	0	7 — 19

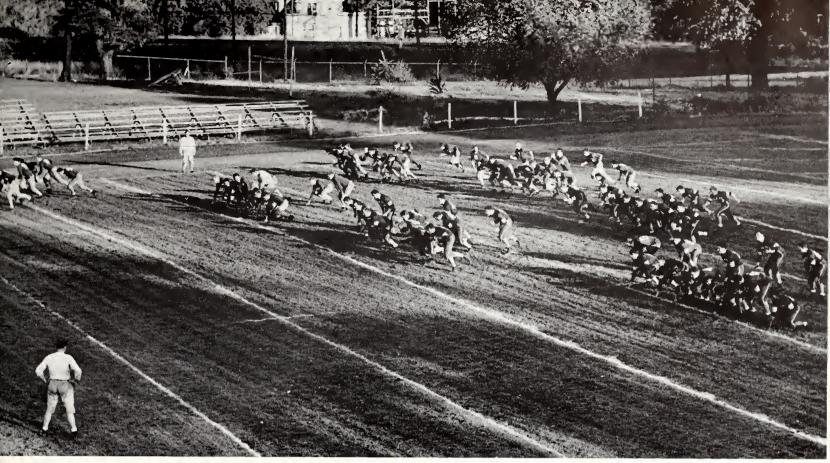

Illinois State, playing before Western's home-coming crowd, fell to a fighting Leatherneck eleven 19-14 in their third conference fray. Injuries to key players Dal Santo, Swartout, Burridge, and Licocci darkened Normal's chances as the game progressed.

State Normal scored fast on Dal Santo's end sweep and on Burridge's extra point, but the Macomb team came back with two touchdowns to grab a 12-7 half time lead.

Burridge stepped around end to score in the third quarter, but the tired and battered Redbirds fell to the last-period rally which netted a Western victory.

Pre-game opinion indicated that Normal was attempting folly to travel to Indianapolis, Indiana, to take on Butler. But a brilliant and gallant football team played heads up ball, to defeat the Bulldogs 14-0.

I.S.N.U. scored its first touchdown in the third quarter. Frank Chiodo lateralled to Milt Kadlec, who tosses a strike to big John Dal Santo in the end zone. Dean Burridge converted the extra points.

Normal - Northern Tie 14-14

State Normal	0	7	0	7 — 14
Northern	7	0	7	0 14

With echoes of praise still ringing in their ears from the Butler game, Coach "Ed" Struck's great Normal team returned to McCormick field to tie a big, bruising Northern Illinois State team 14-14, and to thrill 6,000 homecoming fans by intercepting passes in the waning seconds of the game.

In Northern the Redbirds met a line that outweighed them, but could not outlight them. Northern scored first and third, while the Redbirds performed magnificently to come from behind and tie the game.

I.S.N.U. 26 — LaCrosse 14
I.S.N.U. 13 0 7 6 — 26
LaCrosse 0 7 0 7 — 14
State Normal's Redbirds swept with fury in the opening quarter to defeat LaCrosse by a 26-14 score. This game provided one of the outstanding maneuvers of the season when Dean Burridge returned a LaCrosse punt 70 yards for a touchdown.

Storey, Ralph Lesnick, and Harlow Swartout stood out for Normal in the line, while Burridge's returned punt was the offensive play of the day.

As the most voluoble player in the I.I.A.C., Dick Baldrini receives the William McAndrews trophy from Mr. Ivens.

MAUL ILLINOIS WESLEYAN

Normal Crushes Wesleyan, 29-0

I.S.N.U. 2 14 6 7 — 29 Wesleyan 0 0 0 0 — 0

In the Normal-Wesleyan classic, Illinois State, led by Baldrini, Dal Santo, Kadlec, and Eades, defeated a respected Wesleyan eleven 29-0.

Completely smothering Wesleyan's passing attack, the Birds scored in every period, piling up 29 points, and walked off the field at the final guntired but elated.

"B" Team Football

Opening the season with a squad of some 40-odd men, Coach Charles Slagle and his assistants, Joe Garnero and Bloice Bess, were stumped in selecting a starting line-up for the first game with Western. When this game was over, with the Birdie "B's" winning 8-7, every man had had his chance, and many of them had made outstanding bids for regular positions.

In Millikin the Redbirds encountered a scrappy, determined Decatur team and overpowered it 13-6. Eastern dealt the junior varsity its first defeat, 13-0. A return engagement with Millikin produced the same result as that of the previous encounter, with Normal winning 6-2.

A bruising 19-6 win over Western's Leathernecks and a 20-7 loss to Northern's J.V.'s gave the Slaglemen a 4 won-2 lost record for the year.

Coach Struck will have a great deal of material next year from this large squad. He was particularily impressed with the backs, and several of the line men made memorable showings during the season.

In the opening game of the season, the Redbirds lost to James Millikin University 70-61. The following night Oakland City's fast breaking offense proved too much for the Red and White; therefore they lost 65-54.

The Cardinals finally broke the ice by winning their first game against Shurtleff 71-47. Coasting along with a 30-22 lead at the intermission, Normal substituted freely during the last half, using 11 players in the fray.

The Redbirds fell to a fast Milwaukee Teachers five in a thriller, 70-60. Glen Honsbruch carded 23 points, but the Teachers pulled away to a 10 point lead in the second half.

The Cardinals defeated Eureka, 68-60. The game was loosely played and there was wild shooting and passing on the part of both teams. Eureka jumped into an early lead and went ahead before I.S.N.U. rallied behind shots by Leon Heinle, and Dean Burridge to give Normal a 32-26 advantage at halftime. After that the Cardinals were never lagging. Heinle and Burridge swished in 20 and 23 points respectively.

1.S.N.U. pulled away from the University of Minnesota, Duluth Branch, the last few seconds to notch their second straight win, 80-74. Six players scored seven or more points in this one, Burridge and Honsbruch hitting 20 and 19 apiece.

Chanute Field proved too much for the Redbirds, handing them a 64-60 setback. Normal built up a comfortable 40-28 half-time lead but Chanute Field staged a redhot rally, to win by four points. Honsbruch with 23 and Don Richards with 15 paced I.S.N.U.

After breezing to a 77-59 win over Eau Claire, Normal couldn't get up enough steam to overhaul a tough University of Dubuque quintet in the finals of the DeKalb Invitational. The Birds bowed to the Dubuque team, but were awarded second place in the tournament.

In the first I.I.A.C. battle Western's Leathernecks were just too good, taking the game 72-60.

The I.S.N.U. team turned on all its might to overpower Illinois Wesleyan 70-57.

Honsbruch, Richards and Burridge combined for a 60 point total in the top game of the '49-'50 season. The "Sugar Creek" neighbors led for eight minutes, but a Honsbruch goal put Normal in the lead, and from then on in it was the Cardinals' ball game.

Southern shellacked the Goffmen in the second conference game, 81-54. With only a 29-20 half time lead the Maroons set a torrid second half pace to overwhelm I.S.N.U.

the last minute of play to push Normal past Northern and take the game out of the Huskies' open arms. This contest was a thriller all the way! Northern held a six point lead before Heinle personally gave I.S.N.U. their first conference win.

Eureka spanked the Redbirds in the return engagement 67-51. Bob Brenneman, up from the "B" team, plunked in 14 points to lead the Birdies.

Western's quintet, led by Pensinger, dumped the Normal team 63-52. With the score 51-51 and only minutes to play Tommy Millikin pumped in 6 points to give Southern a 58-51 victory over the Goffmen.

Getting off to a fast start, I.S.N.U. had little trouble building up an 84-47 win over Chicago Teachers' College. Thirteen of the fourteen players used by Normal cracked the scoring column.

In the last regularly scheduled game, the Redbirds were plenty hot, but unfortunately they were matched against Eastern's Panthers. State Normal completely dominated play in the first half but couldn't keep it up in the second half. Ron Hughes led the I.S.N.U. attack with 20 points.

A post-season game for the benefit of the Cancer Fund was played between I.S.N.U. and Wesleyan. In the rubber game of the series, the Goffmen dumped the Titans 50-44, Bob Brenneman leading Normal in the scoring column with 14 points. Coach Goff cleared the bench by sending twelve players onto the court.

So ended the Redbirds' season on the hardwood. Though they went through the season rather unimpressively as far as winning games was concerned, the spirit, fight, and willingness of the Normal basketeers kept the opponents on the respectful side. Whether in victory or defeat, the Redbirds and Coach Goff deserved every credit, and with the experienced men who will be available, they should be right at the top of the conference heap in the future.

B Team Basketball

With Ed Struck returning to the helm of the University's "B" Team, the junior varsity had a highly successful year, winning 9 games while losing only 3. By the end of the season the team was as smooth-working as any corresponding team seen at Normal in several years.

Coach Struck had approximately thirty aspirants for positions on the teams, and a great many of them saw action. The abilities of Austin, Holz, Gallagher, Calvin, Reigle, Nelson, and Kaufmann were soon evident, however, and these boys saw most of the action.

Although the entire team demonstrated plenty of fight and team spirit, Al Austin, Herb Kaufmann, and Bill Reigle have the best possibilities of taking a varsity berth next year. Their consistent offensive and defensive playing should go far in making up for the loss of Heinle and Baldrini, who are graduating. With more experience the other starters should fast become dependable varsity material.

Joe Cogdal's State Normal Redbirds won their fourth consecutive I.I.A.C. cross country title during the 1949 season. Jacque Osborn, captain, won the individual championship when he passed Southern's Joe McLafferty in the last twenty yards. Bob Swift and James Garnett finished sixth and eighth respectively.

The Normal harriers also placed second in the state meet, finishing behind Gil Dodd's fast stepping Wheaton squad.

Because of their enviable record, Osborne, Swift, Garnett, Wayne Henderson, Gene Wendland, John Winkler, Evan Shull, Bernard Schaitz, Austin Eckstein, and all the other squad members deserve the highest praise offered in the thinly clad sport.

Track

Having opened the 1950 track season under definite training handicaps, Coach Joe Cogdal still hopes to mold successfully a team that can be depended upon to uphold the Red and White.

Last year's unimpressive record can be cited as a motivation for the high peak of interest in the coming season, with improvement indicated. Cogdal has an impressive group of veterans back, plus a promising group of freshmen.

Captain John Winkler, broad jumper Ronald Davis and hurdler Bob Perry are counted on to grab their share of points. Others reporting for the 1950 team are Ed Raley, hurdler, plus Jim Garnett, Gene Wendland, Wayne Henderson, Jacque Osborn, and Bob Swift, all distance men.

Baseball-1949

I.S.N.U.'s 1949 baseball team was considered dangerous by all opponents last season. Consistent hitting and smooth fielding kept the team in the championship race all season; they finished with a 4-3 record. Leading hitters for the season were John Dal Santo, Bob Durbak, Captain Guy Jaccobucci, Loren Weaver, and Dean Burridge. The fielding of Bob Zubeck (the team's most valuable player and shortstop) Burridge, Jaccobucci, and Dick Baldrini was sensational.

With almost the entire squad coming back, prospects for a great team this spring are again bright. Art Goreham, Mike Radski, Ed Bonzyck, and Paul Bourgeois are returning mound performers. The entire outfield of Baldrini, Jaccobucci, Durbak, and substitute Milt Kadlec are battling for first string positions again. Buck Weaver, Zubeck, Dal Santo, and Ted Jurczak are dependable infielders while Duffy Bass and Bob Hartman appear to be the catching candidates.

Wrestling

Coach Gene Hill's Illinois State Normal matmen were at the top of the heap in the scramble for wrestling honors in the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, when all remaining matches were canceled because of the "coal vacation" in effect at the four state teachers colleges.

The 1949-50 record shows seven wins, one tie, and one loss for the Red and White. The loss came at the hands of Wheaton College, while a 14-14 time was registered with the Great Lakes sailors. Non-conference dual meets were scored over Bradley, the Navy Pier Illini, and the University of Chicago.

Assistant Caach Dick Rackenbach and Caach Eugene Hill discuss wrestling strategy with Captain Emil Morsch.

A quick "one-two" punch by seniors Tom Douglas and Bob Mann in the 121 and 128 pound divisions was responsible for several important points this season.

In regularly scheduled matches Douglas had nine consecutive victories to his credit; Mann had eight wins and one tie. In the Wheaton invitational, both Douglas and Mann added to their laurels, along with Roy Camboni. Mann and Camboni were champions in the 121 and 165 pound divisions respectively, while Mann lost the championship match by a referee's decision.

Won, lost, and tie records for the rest of the State Normal grapplers were as follows: Ed Wilde, 1-3-3; Alan Kornblum, 2-0-0; Capt. Emil Morsch, 4-3-0; Roy Camboni, 3-1-0; George Egofski, 5-3-0; Don Maquet, 4-3-1; Frank Marchetti, 2-6-0; Al Everett, 3-2-2; Jack Jordan, 0-2-0; Dean Heald, 1-0-0; and Ronald Beales, 0-1-0.

Although the conference meet was called off this year, the Redbirds defeated all-conference opponents in regular dual meets, which, in our book, is equivalent to a conference championship.

Golf

As an intercollegiate sport at Illinois State Normal University, golf has shown a great gain in popularity during the past year. With the scheduling to date of several outstanding college teams in the Middlewest, plans for the 1950 golf team have progressed.

Led by Harry Mussatto, one of the best golfers in the Midwest and a veteran of many state and amateur tournaments, the team represents an array of material that insures a favorable record. Returning members from the 1949 team include "Whiz" Erickson and Ted Spyra. Emil Scodeller, a freshman, seems to have the best chance of taking over the fourth varsity position.

Tennis

I.S.N.U.'s racquet wielders, intent on carrying on as conference champions, are faced with the problem of replacing the loss of Dick Green, last year's captain.

Don Hertz, LaVerne Changnon, Tom Henderson, Harold Garrett, and Ed Boppre, lettermen from last year's team, are expected to form the nucleus of the 1950 tennis representatives.

The team this year is coached by Russell Steele, publicist for the University.

Swimming

Under the capable leadership of Coach Charles Slagle, Illinois State Normal enjoyed its first swimming team in the history of the school in 1949-50. Although not winning a meet, the team gave indication of balanced power in years to come.

Bob Mitchell, a diver, Lloyd Logan, a distance man, sprinters Bob Aussprung and George Flickinger, plus Frank Jarvis and Gerald Cunningham, were the heaviest scorers on the team, so they managed to place first in many of the meets.

INTRAMURALS DEVELOP COMPETITIVE SPIRIT AT I.S.N.U.

Men's Intramurals

Students at Illinois State Normal are greatly interested in the programs of intramural sports. A varied selection is offered, and a major portion of the male student body participates. A sport for every man is the purpose of the intramural program, so constant effort is exerted to get as many students as possible to take an active part in the intramural activities.

Through the efforts of Gene Hill and Charles Slagle, intramural directors of the University, and through the intramural management class of the Men's Physical Education Department, the policies and functions of the I. M. program are set forth. Direction of the various sports presented in the program is assigned to individuals in the aforementioned class.

Women's Sports

Women's Recreation

A mirror of I.S.N.U, 1949-50, reflects an extensive program of social and sports activities carried out by the Women's Recreation Association.

Willing to roll out a barrel chuck-full of leisuretime gear, WRA was Ready, in the fall of '49, to meet every recreational desire of all women of the campus. By June, 1950, the association has proved it is Able to keep 'em happy, while developing such qualities as leadership, sportsmanship, and companionship.

When the executive board, led by president Lucy Lanham, and a board of sportheads tipped over the barrel in September, out rolled ham salad sandwiches, targets, nets, and hiking shoes! The intramural program was underway! For nine weeks, gals from every department in the university ate the sandwiches with Women's League at a "kick-off" picnic on south campus, bullied on the hockey field, raced all over the tennis courts, and drew back bows from a round of archery.

At the same time a "graduate" phase of WRA was in operation . . . the extramural program . . . with skilled team members selected to meet out-of-school competition. Gathering up their hockey sticks and shin-guards, the Redbird ladies ended hockey season with a 100 percent win-loss record. Romping over the alums in a homecoming battle, the team won its initial meet, 7-1, and continued its victory by belittling a Southern aggregation, 4-1. As the grass on south campus gradually turned brown, Normalites met and defeated Eastern, 5-1, and slipped by Southern for the second time, 4-3. Climaxing the season with a decisive victory, the hockettes bypassed MacMurray, 8-0.

As icicles formed on the barrel of equipment, it was rolled into McCormick gym for winter activities of volleyball, square dancing, swimming, badminton, bowling, table tennis, and basketball.

Association

Intramurals found 200 women in league battles in volleyball, with the Flickers coming out on top. Representing nearly every department on the campus, 22 teams were organized in intramural basketball with team play four nights a week. Three leagues supplied a necessary bracket for each class . . . major-minor, independent, and house.

Matching the record of the hockey team, volley ballers recorded no defeats as they squelched the squaws from Bradley, 32-26; paddled Principia, 26-22; scalped the Bradley Bravettes a second time, 50-13; whittled Wesleyan, 42-26, and pounded Principia in a second game, 39-20.

Basketball was a slightly different story, however, as the extramural team, which had remained undefeated for a two-year period, fell before a powerful Principia sextet, 26-29. The hit-the-loopers were successful in their other cage meets, outscoring Principia 25-14, and dealing a double-defeat to Millikin, 37-20 and 40-19.

Nearing the bottom of the barrel, we welcomed spring to the campus, along with a camping trip which drew 115 students to Lake Bloomington, a duplicate of the excursion held in the fall. At the same time, softball pitched its way to a leading activity with some 150 wallowing on the dirt diamonds on south campus. Tennis players returned to the courts as the sun made its occasional appearance, and the golfers, archers, and outing club members emptied the WRA gear-barrel, to end another successful season for the Women's Recreation Association.

The executive board of WRA responsible, in a large part, for the success of the all-'round program, included President Lanham, vice president Margaret Eggenberger, secretary Dorothy Beitsch, and treasurer Mary Alderson.

Student Council

Acting on behalf of the entire student body, the Student Council carried out its work through departmental representatives this year. The twenty-six members of the Council were elected from their major departments, the number of representatives from each department depending on the number of majors in it.

These representatives accepted suggestions from students in their departments; then they referred the ideas that would affect students collectively to committees for recommendation or rejection. The Council worked closely with the administration on issues requiring a composite opinion from the students.

The Council held semi-monthly meetings. Socially, it sponsored several dances following athletic events, including the Good Will dance with Illinois Wesleyan University. A Good Will banquet for the Student Councils of the two schools also helped to mitigate any undesirable rivalry between the institutions. Council representatives for next year were elected this spring and were guests at a picnic given by this year's members.

Science Club

Seven departments are included in the membership and in the activities of the Science Club. A candidate for membership must be a major or a minor in one of the following departments: mathematics, home economics, physical science, geography, agriculture, biological science, or elementary education. Furthermore, he must have a "B" average in the classes of his particular field, plus a high scholastic standing in his other courses.

The thirty-seven members this year had monthly meetings, with lectures on various aspects of the seven fields. The activities of the group were not limited strictly to scientific matters, however. Two social functions, parties at Christmas and in the spring, provided hilarity.

One of the oldest campus organizations, the Science Club was founded in 1912 by Professor Frederic Detos Barber of the Department of Physical Science. Outside speakers were seldom used at the first club meetings. Instead, members presented papers on scientific subjects.

Business Education Club

Popular among business education majors and minors as an extracurricular activity is the Business Education Club. Membership in the organization, however, is extended to all students with an interest in that field, whether or not they are in any way affiliated with the department. This year approximately 150 persons enjoyed the advantages of belonging to the group.

Social events were mixed with academic endeavors throughout the year. The memorable evening of initiation at the University Farm, Christmas festivities, a float entered in the Homecoming parade — these proved that the members were not only efficient but clever as well. The club took another rôle at Homecoming, too; it managed the house decoration contest.

An off-campus trip and visits to local commercial establishments gave the members an opportunity to observe business on an operative basis.

FOR MEETING SPIRITUAL NEEDS

Newman Club

Catholic students found a valuable program of religious activities and social functions in the Newman Club this year. One of the largest campus organizations, the club served faculty members as well as the university's 431 Catholic students, 219 of whom were active members. These members held monthly meetings, with programs presented by off-campus speakers and by students.

The year's social events included a reception for new students, an initiation supper, a card party, a Homecoming breakfast, communion breakfasts, a Christmas gathering, and a May Day supper. Among the group's services to the school was the establishment of a library of religious books.

Alpha Tau Alpha

Agriculture majors once again endowed the I.S.N.U chapter of Alpha Tau Alpha with a year of successful ventures. The thirty-five members made a trip to the International Livestock Exposition, entertained teachers and students of the Department of Agriculture at a smoker, and held their seventeenth annual Holbert medal banquet. Each year Dr. J. R. Holbert presents a medal to the most outstanding student in the field crops class, with particular emphasis on his technical knowledge of corn.

Any student of junior or senior standing who plans to teach vocational agriculture is eligible to join the fraternity. The members engage in a professional study of their teaching field.

Mr. Clyde Hudelson, head of the Department of Agriculture, was affiliated with the founding of the national fraternity as a student at the University of Illinois. Upon coming to I.S.N.U. as an agriculture teacher, he petitioned for a charter. The group has been active since that time.

Gamma Theta Upsilon

The fragrance of coffee that could be detected around North Hall on Thursday afternoons this year was an olfactory clue to the weekly social gatherings sponsored by the Alpha Chapter of Gamma Theta Upsilon, the honorary fraternity for geography students. These coffee hours served to unite further an already highly cooperative department.

Meetings with talks by prominent persons in the field of geography were monthly attractions on the club agenda. Seasonal activities included a banquet during Homecoming, a Christmas party, and a picnic in the spring.

Belonging to the chapter during the year were about forty students, most of them majors or minors in geography. Any student with at least six semester hours of credit in that department who maintained an "A" or "B" average in geography courses could belong, however. Established on the campus in 1928, the Alpha Chapter is now one of the twenty-six active chapters in the United States.

This year the group invited specialists in various aspects of the social sciences to be speakers at its meetings. Apart-from its academic activities, the fraternity sponsored a Homecoming banquet for alumni, an initiation each semester, and a picnic in the spring.

Since the founding of the Illinois Theta Chapter in 1930, its members have recognized and encouraged the ideals of scholarship and of public service through the study of social sciences. They have tried to approach social issues in a rational manner.

FOR EXPLORING NATURE AT ITS ROOTS

Nature Study Club

One of the oldest organizations on the campus, the Nature Study Club is proud to have had in its membership students from many major fields, ranging from those of home economics and commerce to agriculture and elementary education. The only requirement for membership is a sincere interest in the out-of-doors. More than thirty-five faculty members and students belonged to the club this year.

Aside from meetings featuring films or speakers, most of the club's sessions were held out-of-doors. All the social events except the Christmas party, were also conducted in close proximity to nature.

The group decorated the sponsor's house for the Homecoming contest, arranged two picnics, and went on two all-day field trips. The first of these treks was to Mazon, Illinois, where the nature enthusiasts searched for fossils. Their venture was successful, too, because each member returned with an ancient souvenir.

Gamma Phi

For the eighteenth consecutive year members of the Alpha Chapter of Gamma Phi frolicked about on the McCormick gymnasium floor and above the heads of the spectators during their spring circus.

Gymnastic stunts, swinging acts, clowns' capers, and band music were combined in the gala affair. In addition, a lovely queen and her court reigned over the festive proceedings.

An organization for students interested in gymnastics, the fraternity welcomed both men and women to take a performance test which had to be passed for membership. About thirty students composed Gamma Phi this year. They made off-campus trips to give demonstrations at different colleges and universities, and at Homecoming they entertained alumni of the group at a reunion.

Originally a men's organization, the Alpha Chapter has accepted women as members only within the past decade. The feminine portion of the club, however, has proved that it is as adept at gymnastics as its masculine counterpart.

Orchesis

The modern, creative dance has found its place at I.S.N.U. in Orchesis, an organization dedicated to its promotion. Students and faculty alike have recognized the club as being distinctive in its field of artistic expression. Orchesis had about sixty-five members this year, the group not having been limited to any special classifications of students but accepting all with an interest in its treatment of the dance.

As the peak of achievement, the evening program sponsored by Orchesis is the spring featured graceful dance routines which were possible to execute only after extensive practice. Realizing that the one effective way to create an appreciation for the modern dance is to participate in it, the club members considered no interpretation too difficult for their trial.

Not limiting its activities entirely to dancing, the co-educational group held several social events and made a trip to Eastern Illinois State College at Charleston.

English Club

During this second year of its existence the English Club engaged in a number of projects, ranging from selling cider to visiting a poet's home. Its more than forty members started their year's activities before classes began in the fall. They operated a combined white elephant and cider booth at the Tomato Festival sponsored by the Normal Chamber of Commerce in early September.

Discussions were on the agenda for most of the group's meetings, which were held on every third Tuesday evening; however, a few sessions, convening in the Carnegie Room of Milner Library, featured recordings of poems and of plays. The members also visited the home of the poet Vachel Lindsay in Springfield.

Membership in the organization is not limited to students in the English department, but it does function cooperatively with the department's staff. This fall it invited all persons affiliated with the curriculum to attend a tea jointly honoring Miss Katherine Matthew, an exchange teacher from England, and all freshman English majors.

Future Teachers of America

Recognized nationally as a banner chapter of the Future Teachers of America, the I.S.N.U. Mc-Murry Chapter takes pride in being a professional organization. To encourage persons of superior ability to become teachers, the members this year presented panel discussions for Parent-Teacher Associations in surrounding communities and gave talks to high school Future Teachers of America clubs.

Also in the line of service the group assisted in College Day activities and in semester registrations. It observed American Education Week in November by presenting an assembly and by securing publicity for the week's program through the radio and the press. Social functions of the year included Christmas festivities, a birthday banquet in February, and an annual picnic.

The prospective teachers made studies of professional organizations, considering their publications and the national groups through which teachers are unified. They also learned about ethical practices recommended for them to follow in their future positions.

Women's Physical Education Club

Leaving participation in sports to other organizations in its field, the Women's Physical Educa-

They edited four issues of "Redbird Chirps," a newsletter sent to alumnae of the department. They also conducted sales of sports guides and rule books, a handy service for students who wanted their own copies of such publications for classwork or for personal use.

A Christmas party for the children at Victory Hall, a boys' home in Normal, gave the co-eds a chance to serve the community as well as to supervise types of recreation learned in their classes. At Homecoming they entertained physical education alumnae for an open house.

Although the Social Science Club was active during the entire year, it was in its element at Homecoming. The group managed the annual parade, which contained sixty-three units, including a color guard, floats, walking entries, both high school and college bands, and the queen and her court. In addition, it prepared its own float, and walking entries for the parade and even found time to decorate a house.

The 140 members of the club this year included students from many departments, since any man or woman enrolled in the university was eligible to belong. An expression of interest in social science was the one qualification for membership. The club held program meetings, sponsored a Christmas party and a spring picnic, and participated in the annual carnival and in tryouts for the stunt show.

Organized in 1935, the Social Science Club has had steady growth since then, emphasizing entertainment and intellectual activities.

Kappa Delta Epsilon

Kappa Delta Epsilon is a professional education sorority. This year its I.S.N.U chapter had twenty-two members, all of whom were selected on the bases of scholarship, personal qualities, and college classification. These women entertained alumni at a coffee hour during the Homecoming week-end and held a dinner on Founders' Day, April 22.

The sorority strives to promote the cause of education among its members by fostering professional ideals, a spirit of fellowship, and high standards of scholastic attainment. The first organization at I.S.N.U. with these aims was the Education Club, a co-educational group.

When the men's education fraternity, Kappa Phi Kappa, was founded, the women belonging to the Education Club formed a society known as Alpha Theta Chi. They became affiliated with Kappa Delta Epsilon when that sorority was established nationally in 1933. Miss Mary D. Webb, one of the present sponsors, has been secretary of the national organization since its inception.

Lutheran Club

No financial problems were beyond solving by the Lutheran Club this year. When the group's funds became low, the members picked corn for some local farmers. Later, when money again was scarce, they sold Christmas cards.

As a Christian campus organization, the club led a dinner discussion during the December conference on Religion and Life, conducted five Lenten services with Lutheran pastors, and maintained a Sunday morning Bible class throughout the school year. Socially, it sponsored several weiner roasts, a gala reunion at Christmas, and a picnic plus a banquet in the spring. The members prepared an entry for the Homecoming parade and entertained alumni at a breakfast.

Membership, which is available to all students desiring to increase their understanding of the Christian faith, was approximately fifty this year; however, an estimated one hundred different students attended at least one of the club's meetings.

Alpha Phi Omega

Service not only forms the basis of Alpha Phi Omega's existence, but it permeates the group's entire program of activities. The fraternity is essentially a type of Scouting on a college level. Hardly an enterprise of I.S.N.U.'s Theta Epsilon Chapter does not in some way benefit others than the organization's members.

Twenty-five student men belonged to the chapter during this first complete year of the group's functioning. All of them had been trained in Scouting. The completion of a service project plus one semester of pledgeship are necessary for becoming a member.

Beneficent acts of the chapter this year included planning for the erection of a cabin on the campus for the use of local Scouts, arranging for the return to use of the bell from the Old Main tower, guiding high school seniors on College Day, and conducting a keep-to-the-walk campaign.

Perhaps the most enviable task assigned to the lettermen of the "N" Club this year was the managing of the Homecoming queen contest and the crowning of the winner at the Homecoming dances. The members sponsored a number of parties open to all students, in addition to their annual dinner dance for themselves and their guests.

Approximately 120 men who had received letters in varsity sports belonged to the organization during the year. Those not with the team at play operated a concession at football, basketball, and baseball games, and with some of the proceeds the men purchased a whirlpool bath, which they added to the equipment in the athletic department.

In helping to achieve their goal of establishing a good name for I.S.N.U athletics, the lettermen engaged in several activities with the "W" Club of Illinois Wesleyan University. The organization also strove to promote interest in university sports on the part of I.S.N.U. alumni.

Women's League

The absence of social sororities at I.S.N.U. has caused Women's League to stress guidance in social development as one of its major functions. This emphasis is evident in many of the group's projects. All women students become members of the League when they register for the first time at I.S.N.U.

Work in the areas of service and of entertainment is accomplished through boards, by which the group is organized. The entire feminine portion of the student body is represented by geographic rooming districts in the Central Board, by rooming houses in the House Presidents' Board, and by elected officers and appointed committee chairmen in the Executive Board.

This year Women's League sponsored the campus sister movement as well as teas, dances, picnics, and the spring carnival. It joined forces with the University Club is arranging the Big Four dances and in publishing "Campus Cues." The women's group itself had two publications, "Roomie" and "The Co-ed."

Art Club

An initiation of new members and a seniors' "take-off" on the faculty of the Art Department were combined in November to start the Art Club's major activities for the year. In the same month the club members began their annual sale of Christmas cards which they had designed and made.

Perhaps the best known of the club's endeavors was the spring Beaux Arts Ball. Annually this formal event is considered to be outstanding in its elegance and in its unusual and lavish decorations. The elaborate posters advertising it always give a tempting preview of the dance.

Formerly the Palette Club, the organization is open to any student interested in art. Its purpose is to provide a medium through which projects pertaining to art and belonging in the extra-curricular field can be correlated. To conclude this year's achievements, the club had a picnic at Lake Bloomington in the spring.

FOR COPING WITH THE KIDDIES

Elementary Education Club

Organized in 1942 by the combining of five clubs for prospective grade school teachers, the present Elementary Education Club had a membership of 125 students this year. These members, who were all elementary majors, conducted a recreational program at Victory Hall, a boys' home in Normal, on week-day afternoons and on Saturday mornings. They supervised crafts, music, and dramatics and told stories to the younger children.

Last fall twelve students and two faculty members represented the club at a state convention of the Association of Childhood Education International, with which the I.S.N.U. organization is affiliated. At a banquet during the convention, which was held in Urbana, they presented a stunt called "The city bus when Metcalf School lets out."

Other events were a coke hour for freshmen in the fall, a Homecomina luncheon for alumni of the present club and of the five original clubs, a Christmas party, and a spring banquet.

Special Education Club

Swimming, dancing, ping-pong, basketball, shuffleboard — with these activities it would seem as if the Special Education Club deserted its curriculum for physical education this year. The club members, however, did not participate in these sports; they supervised the play of about fifty children, from eight to fourteen years old, at the Bloomington Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday evenings every other week. Volunteers from among the one hundred undergraduates and the ten graduate students in the organization conducted these recreation periods.

Still in its formative stage, the club was established as a campus organization in 1948. The qualifications for membership are an interest in the education of exceptional children, the payment of dues, and attendance at two-thirds of the scheduled meetings.

With the completion of the Special Education building the club anticipates better facilities for its work and an increased interest in its projects. It has hopes for outstanding achievements in the near future.

Kappa Mu Epsilon

On the I.S.N.U. campus, as well as on others in the forty-eight states, mathematics students contribute to college activities through their honorary fraternity, Kappa Mu Epsilon. Membership in the Illinois Alpha Chapter at I.S.N.U. is made available to majors and minors in mathematics who have honor point averages of two or more and no grades below a "C" in mathematics courses. Each candidate for membership must also have a general scholastic average equal to, or exceeding, the university average, and he must have begun the study of differential calculus.

Monthly meetings with presentations by faculty members and students were the basic activities of the forty members this year. Social functions of the group included a Homecoming breakfast, a Christmas gathering, and a spring banquet.

Since the chapter's founding in 1933, it has initiated 346 members. It was host to the national convention of Kappa Mu Epsilon in 1946.

FOR FLEEING THE MADDING CROWD

Maize Grange

In carrying out their policy of keeping alive rural social customs, the members of the Maize Grange sponsored several functions of a rustic nature this year. The women members of the organization prepared boxed lunches with tantalizing decorations to induce high bids from the men at the fall box social. Not as remunerative for the club, but just as enjoyable for the members, was the spring barn dance.

Leaving this rural setting, six delegates from the Grange went to an urbn area for organizational business. Five officers and a delegate-atlarge attended the state Grange conference at Peoria in October.

Although the club's membership largely consists of majors and minors in agriculture and in home economics, any student in the university interested in rural life may join. This year more than one hundred students were active members of the Maize Grange, which is one of the two college Granges in the United States.

Industrial Arts Club

The many persons who made use of the student directories for names, addresses, and telephone numbers this year have the Industrial Arts Club to thank for the publication of those valuable booklets. The printing and sale of the directories has for several years been the laborious but profitable task of the club. Other activities of the group were a trip to a vocational convention in Chicago, an annual banquet, and a picnic.

Composed of approximately seventy majors and minors in industrial arts, the organization held a number of meetings at which the speakers were specialists in such fields as leather or plastic work.

The club endeavored to develop a professional spirit among its members; to unify those affiliated with the Industrial Arts Department; to aid in the placement of graduates in teaching positions; to recruit students of superior ability for the department; and to acquire technical information and knowledge.

Pi Omega Pi

Specific scholastic achievements are necessary for membership in the Theta Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, the national business education fraternity. Juniors and seniors who are majors or minors in business education are eligible for membership if they have 2.2 averages in their commercial courses and 1.5 averages in their other classes. They are also required to have fifteen semester hours of credit in business and five hours of credit in education.

This year the eleven members entertained alumni of the Theta Chapter with a Homecoming luncheon at the Rogers Hotel in Bloomington. They also had a field trip, a joint meeting with the Business Education Club, and an annual spring picnic.

The Theta Chapter was established at I.S.N.U. in 1928, as a means of recognizing superior students affiliated with the Department of Business Education. The name of the honorary fraternity, Pi Omega Pi, symbolizes loyalty, service, and progress.

Home Economics Club

Interior decorating and the use of cosmetics are subjects typical of those discussed at meetings of the Home Economics Club this year. The organization, composed of 111 majors and minors in the Department of Home Economics, also sponsored such projects as a style show and lessons in carving figures from dried apples.

The club's off-campus endeavors consisted of a joint meeting with the Home Economics Club of Illinois Wesleyan University and of delegates' attendance at the Illinois Home Economics Association convention and at the Seventh Province Workshop. #### Y. W. C. A.

Despite the fact that the Young Women's Christian Association of I.S.N.U. was the first college Y.W.C.A. in the world, the organization did not slide by on its past laurels this year. Its thirty-five members engaged in many school and community activities, carrying on the program of service begun in 1872.

The meetings were held bi-weekly in the White Room, the Y.W.C.A.'s own place for retreat and worship. All women on the campus were invited to attend these gatherings, which united them in fellowship, regardless of their race or their creed.

An all-women's tea and a "walkout" breakfast started the year's events in a festive fashion. Homecoming kept the members busy selling chrysanthemums and planning their Sunrise Service. The women participated in the conference on Religion and Life, and to their Christmas party they brought gifts for distribution in a local children's home. A spring installation banquet climaxed the year's activities.

Kappa Delta Pi

As an honorary education society, the Mu Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi presented a gold medal to the sophomore with the highest scholastic rating this year. The award was one of several major contributions of the fraternity to the school. During the year thirty members of the group held meetings at which speakers talked on a variety of specific subjects pertaining to education.

The Mu Chapter was organized in 1922 for the purpose of encouraging high professional, intellectual, and personal standards. Since that time it has maintained an enviable position of dignity on the campus.

Membership in the national fraternity is available to any student who has an honor point average of 2.4 or more and who is enrolled in the field of education. This last qualification can be met by all I.S.N.U students, with the exception of those in nurses' training and in other special areas.

Latin Club

Contrary to plebian thought, the Latin Club did not spend the year conjugating verbs and memorizing passages from Virgil. Its members held lively sessions and participated wholeheartedly in some very modern phases of college life.

The first meeting was a picnic on the South Campus grounds, and the second was a lecture by the sponsor, illustrated with beautiful slides and maps of Italy, where she had traveled and studied last summer. From then on, the club members were submerged in activities: a Homecoming breakfast and an entry in the parade, a Christmas celebration, a booth at the annual indoor carnival, and a spring banquet.

Although its eighteen members this year were all Latin majors or minors, the club was open to anyone interested in its program. As a supplement to classwork, it featured a study of life in Roman times, with an emphasis on feasts, gods, and government.

Canterbury Club

The I.S.N.U. Canterbury Club, a chapter of the national organization for Episcopalian college students, is designed primarily for those of that faith but does not exclude others. During the past year the club consisted of more than a dozen members, who designed and carried out a program of activities embodying Christian fellowship.

Those students held semi-monthly meetings at which they focused their attention on the teachings of their faith and on service to the school. At one meeting a priest from St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Bloomington explained the significance of his vestments. Before Christmas three students of Greek descent described the holiday season in the homeland of their ancestors. The club members initiated the practice of monthly corporate communions at St. Matthew's Church. They also kept a scrapbook of clippings from religious publications.

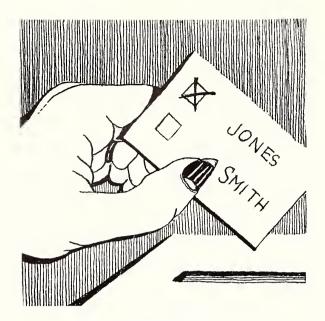

Picnics, a reception, and a breakfast highlighted the social calendar of the Canterbury Club this year.

Each College League of Women Voters in the state was invited to attend a conference held on the campus in December. Under the sponsorship of the I.S.N.U. League, the delegates considered as a general topic the problems of local government.

Organized in 1926 as the citizenship committee of Women's League, the group now operates separately, although it is still financed by the larger organization. Through an educational program its members attempt to develop a non-partisan view of all political issues. A trip to Springfield this year helped them to gain first-hand information on state government. In the spring the League conducted the annual all-school election.

Apart from its political activities, the organization gave a Christmas party for the children at the Normal Baby Fold. About twenty women belonged to the League this year. The group welcomed in its membership any woman on the campus, whether of voting age or not.

The school year 1949-1950 brought leadership training, social gatherings, and attendance at off-campus conferences to the approximately thirty members of the Hieronymous Club. During the year this group initiated newcomers, met socially at Christmas, and feasted at its annual spring picnic.

It sent representatives to a state-wide convention, where delegates from similar organizations at the other four state teachers colleges and at the University of Illinois assembled. A few club members also attended the National Youth Conference, which was held in October at Jackson's Mill, West Virginia.

Membership in the club is open to all students who are interested in the contributions of different racial and national groups to world society. The activities of the club serve to acquaint the members with the ideas and problems of various locales and ways of life.

At one of the group's meetings Mehru Kutar, a special education student from Bombay, India, spoke on the customs of her native land. # Philadelphia

Dramatic, musical, and literary abilities of its members are nurtured by Philadelphia, the oldest student organization on the campus. Each year this club and its sister society, Wrightonia, divide all I.S.N.U. newcomers into their two groups as nominal members. Active membership is gained by the recruits through successful participation in tryouts. Those already belonging to the organizations serve to evaluate the merits of the candidates. Philadelphia had approximately forty active members this year.

The outstanding event of the 1949-1950 school year for both societies was the eighty-ninth annual contest between Philadelphia and Wrightonia in the spring, when representatives from both groups gave an evening program of musical selections, dramatic readings, and allied literary presentations.

Traditionally, the two societies look forward to this contest as the culmination of a year's endeavors. The competitors customarily celebrate the success of the match with a joint banquet, thus promoting friendly relations between the rivals.

Pi Kappa Delta

Again this year the members of the Illinois Eta Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta distinguished themselves in forensic competition. They were hosts to a joint Province Tournament for the Illinois and the Missouri-lowa Provinces of the honorary forensic fraternity. Nationally, Pi Kappa Delta holds a similar tournament every other year, alternating with these regional events.

Members of the I.S.N.U. chapter are selected on an honorary basis, the qualifications varying among the three fields of forensics — debate, oratory, and discussion. This year's eleven members participated in the university's Normal Debate Tournament, one of the largest of its kind in the United States. Although the meet was not limited to members of the fraternity, they all took part in it, then conducted recreation for the visiting delegations.

In addition to monthly meetings the group held a fall reception, a Christmas party, and an annual banquet and initiation in the spring.

Sigma Tau Delta

To encourage creative writing among I.S.N.U. students, Sigma Tau Delta, the honorary fraternity for majors and minors maintaining an average of "A" or "B" in English, again this year published "The Triangle," a magazine containing short stories, poems, and essays. Cash prizes were awarded for the winning contributions, which could be submitted by any student in the university. The fraternity's thirty members sold these magazines in the spring.

Volumes on innumerable subjects were purchased during the annual Sigma Tau Delta book sale in January. Many students and faculty members found bargains among the collection on display; others enjoyed simply browsing through the unusual and the well known books.

Forsaking their literary abilities, the members took a musical turn around Christmas time and went caroling. Most of the group's meetings, however, were held in the homes of teachers in the English Department, including that of the celebration of Shakespeare's birthday in April.

The University Club has for a number of years been a leader among campus organizations in the sponsoring of social events. During the past year this club, of which all student men automatically become members upon registration, held a stag party and both formal and informal dances. It had charge of the annual Christmas service and participated in tryouts for the spring stunt show.

In conjunction with Women's League it sponsored the Big Four dances and Dad's Day and Mother's Day programs.

Emphasizing cooperation of the various men's groups, the University Club from year to year provides opportunities for fraternal fellowship among its members. It actively assists all campus activities which it considers deserving of support. Positions of leadership in the club are open to men who are willing to give their time and effort to arranging social functions and to serving on cooperative projects with representatives of other organizations.

Wesley Foundation

"A home away from home" is the phrase by which the Wesley Foundation likes to identify its role in college life. The Foundation is sponsored by the First Methodist Church of Normal, where its headquarters for meetings and for social gatherings are located.

Some activity was scheduled for nearly every day of the week this year. Sunday suppers prepared by students were followed by the functioning of the Dreft Board (dish washers), by recreation, and by worship services. Tuesdays meant "pop-in" teas, and Wednesday's Share-It suppers, simple meals at which students donated money that otherwise would have been spent for dinners in a restaurant. Fridays brought play nights and special parties.

Delegates attended Methodist student conferences in Champaign-Urbana and in Jacksonville this year. Members also cooperated with the Inter-Church Student Council in presenting monthly radio programs. The various money-making ventures of the group helped to support the International Christian University in Tokyo, Japan.

Hardly any campus organization had as full a schedule this year as Women's Recreation Association, popularly known as W.R.A. Favorite periodic events for its members, which included all women students at I.S.N.U. were monthly playnights in McCormick gymnasium, nightly intramurals, spring and fall camping trips to Lake Bloomington, semimonthly coke hours, hayrack rides, and swimming and skating sessions.

In addition to these activities W.R.A. members participated in sportsdays both on and off the campus. Each of the following extramural teams from the organization played in one sportsday during the year: field hockey, volley ball, basketball, softball, and tennis. Archery and badminton were also included in extramural sports but did not have sportsdays.

Alumnae of W.R.A. were the guests of this year's members at a Homecoming luncheon. A formal banquet in the spring climaxed the term's strenuous series of activities, which was under the sponsorship of the organization's Executive Board.

Wrightonia

Last fall Wrightonia and its companion society, Philadelphia, selected nominal members from the freshmen and transfer students, each newcomer being assigned to one of the two groups. This procedure was repeated with new enrollees at the opening of the second semester.

Wrightonia had twenty-five active members this year. Such membership was gained by musical, dramatic, or literary performance in tryouts. The abilities displayed in these tryouts were used to advantage in the Phil-Wright spring contest, an event which has been held every year since 1858, with the exception of the Civil War period.

Wrightonia was founded when several members of the older Philadelphia decided to form a rival organization. Although it was first called the D and E Society, the group later changed its name to Wrightonia in honor of Simeon Wright, who helped to establish the society. #### Smith Hall

Set back from University Street among widespreading trees and Iuxuriant shrubbery, Smith Hall reflects a type of college life akin to that experienced in a social fraternity. About fifty men students lived in the yellow brick residence this year, and all considered themselves fortunate in securing such convenient accommodations.

The first floor of the dormitory was the site of numerous parties during the year, the limited size of the building confining these sessions to the residents and to their guests. Formal dances at Christmas and in the spring added to this pattern of gracious living. Well represented in athletics, the hall furnished outstanding intramural teams in addition to housing participants in most of the intercollegiate sports.

Modern furniture now adorns the hall, which was recently redecorated. The downstairs lounges and the study rooms on the second floor all have new desks, chairs, and other furnishings, which accentuate the homelike atmosphere of the dormitory.

La Estudiantina

Any student with a speaking knowledge of Spanish may become a member of La Estudiantina. The obvious reason for this one qualification is that Spanish is spoken at all meetings, where studies of South American culture are stressed.

Membership in the organization reached thirtytwo after an initiation in November. The club held a Christmas party and conducted a booth at the spring carnival sponsored by Women's League. Talks by outside speakers and student discussions in Spanish were on the agenda for most of the regularly scheduled meetings of the group.

At the time of the organization's founding in 1948, the members chose three colors to represent both La Estudiantina and the ideals for Pan-American cooperation. They selected red for fiery spirit and determination to succeed, white for peace and harmony among the American nations, and gold for prosperity and security.

FOR BRINGING A TASTE OF BROADWAY TO LAUGH-HUNGRY STUDENTS

Blackfriars

Spring on the I.S.N.U. campus means, among other things, the full blooming of the Blackfriars' creative efforts. Again this year the 'Friars frolicked through two performances of their annual show, exhilarating their audiences. They wrote and produced the show, which featured comic and serious stunts, plus music by their band. They also gave the Homecoming assembly, in which they depicted the events of that festive week-end.

Any male student may try out for membership in the Blackfriars by presenting an original demonstration on some phase of the drama or an allied art of the theater. In November eighteen candidates were accepted as pledges. After the traditional Hell Week and an initiation, they became Blackfriars, thus bringing the total membership to forty-five.

Apart from its dramatic accomplishments, the organization this year established a scholarship which will be awarded every four years to a student in financial need who has outstanding attributes of leadership and personality.

FOR SKIMMING THE CREAM OF THE THESPIAN CROP

Theta Alpha Phi

Membership in the Illinois Delta Chapter of Theta Alpha Phi represents the peak of honor for students affiliated with dramatics at I.S.N.U. To be admitted to this fraternity, a student must have had major roles in two university plays, must have been chairman of three principal production crews, or must have worked on a combination of these. Only then is he eligible for election by the organization.

The thirty members held both winter and spring initiations this year. They produced the spring play, Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," and attended dinner meetings at one another's homes. The I.S.N.U. chapter, which was founded in 1926, joined with the Illinois Beta Chapter of Illinois Wesleyan University to sponsor several activities. These two groups were hosts to the fraternity's national convention in 1940, and since that time they have cooperated in annual social events.

The I.S.N.U sponsor is vice-president of the national organization of Theta Alpha Phi.

Jesters

A major credit, a pledge period, an initiation and the student is a Jester. Any man or woman enrolled at I.S.N.U can follow such a procedure to become a member of this dramatics organization. The necessary credit may be earned by participation in one or more plays, depending on the type of role he has in the production. Committee work, although usually of lower credit value, is counted as well as acting.

Approximately ninety students were Jesters this year. They gave "All My Sons" as their annual winter play, presented a dramatic program for visiting high school seniors on College Day, and represented I.S.N.U. in an exchange assembly with Illinois Wesleyan University.

Hailed as their favorite venture by most of the Jesters was the December trip to Chicago, where the group saw two stage plays, "Death of a Salesman" and "Kiss Me, Kate." After the latter performance the members received a few backstage pointers.

FOR KEEPING IN TUNE

Lowell Mason Club

To music majors and minors the Lowell Mason Club is more than a departmental organization. Through it comes their only opportunity to meet as a music group without having to sing or to play instruments.

In addition to its usual program of activities — spring and fall picnics, Christmas caroling, and several parties — the club not only sponsored a minstrel show and a spring dance but also provided the band from its own membership. This band played at all-school parties arranged by other organizations, too. Lowell Mason, who is credited with being the father of public school music, would be greatly surprised to know that a band bearing his name plays dance numbers instead of the children's songs which he popularized.

Although the club was handicapped at Home-coming because all but three members were in the marching bands, it was still able to enter a float in the parade and to hold its annual reception for alumni.

FOR BARBERSHOPPING IN GRAND STYLE

University Men's Glee Club

A number of high schools in Illinois communities near St. Louis had the opportunity of hearing the University Men's Glee Club sing during its three-day tour this spring. The itinerary of the eighty-voice organization included such towns as Collinsville, Wood River, Alton, and Belleville.

The group made its first major appearance on the campus this year preceding the three performances of the Homecoming play; intermissions featured some old-time numbers which were in keeping with the melodramatic mood of "Hazel Kirke." The vocalists also made radio broadcasts and sang before the local American Legion posts and at meetings of the Optimist Clubs in the community, in addition to presenting assembly programs. This extensive schedule of performances required two rehearsals a week during the year.

For admission to the glee club an applicant must meet only one collective requirement: he must be a male student of I.S.N.U. who is able to carry a tune.

FOR HARMONIZING

University Choir

Illustrating the rapid pace at which the University Choir operated this year is an impressive list of concert appearances: the seventy-voice group sang two oratorios, Handel's "Messiah" and Mendelssohn's "Elijah"; it made a tour in December, singing in several Illinois towns; and its members presented a public concert in the spring.

Participating in all-school events, the choir furnished music for sessions of the conference on Religion and Life and for the Christmas service sponsored by the University Club. This energetic organization also sang on almost a dozen radio broadcasts from both the campus and the Bloomington studios of WJBC.

As if these activities were not enough to merit recognition, the choir entered an entirely new phase of choral production this year: it was host to the first state-wide collegiate chorus (which it instituted), and it sent representatives to the first national collegiate chorus. The latter assembled in St. Louis in the spring.

FOR PROVING THAT MUSIC HATH CHARMERS

University Women's Chorus

Finding transportation for such a large group as the University Women's Chorus would seem to be quite a problem, but it did not keep the 136 singing co-eds from performing away from the campus this year. The women appeared at high schools in Gibson City and in Piper City, and they sang for the servicemen at Chanute Field, near Rantoul. In addition they presented a program for the Young Men's Club of Bloomington.

With several other musical organizations on the campus the singers participated in the pre-Christmas concert of selections from Handel's "Messiah." They also appeared in the annual Mother's Day service.

Rehearsing for public performances and singing for personal enjoyment were combined in the scheduled meetings of the chorus. The frequency of these sessions, although usually semi-weekly, varied during the year, depending upon the urgency for immediate practice. Any woman on the campus was eligible for membership in the chorus.

FOR FIDDLING AROUND

University Symphony Orchestra

The University Symphony Orchestra exceeds all other campus organizations in the scope of its membership. This year University High School students, faculty members, student wives, Bloomington-Normal residents, and even a few persons from Illinois Wesleyan University combined with I.S.N.U. music, English, industrial arts, and elementary education majors to form the orchestra of more than sixty pieces.

In addition to two rehearsals every week and occasional informal parties, the group followed a strenuous performance schedule during the year. It presented an assembly, gave two public concerts, and played for radio broadcasts. The string section, as well as the entire orchestra, was on the air.

Revived after a lapse of several years, a training orchestra was maintained for students who played orchestral instruments, but whose level of performance did not warrant their admission to the Symphony Orchestra. Even advanced music students found places in this group by learning to play instruments new to them.

Jimmy Darsey captivated a Big Faur crowd in December with his "Dixieland" rhythms.

Alon Lamox, ballod collectar, traced American falk music fram the early sea chanteys thraugh "Jahn Henry" and "The Cherry Tree Carol" ta a madern song fram the Columbio River regian. Blue and silver — traditional setting of Capen stage for the annual Christmas service.

Thraugh a humid evening lost summer Sigi Weissenberg played cancert music with farceful precisian.

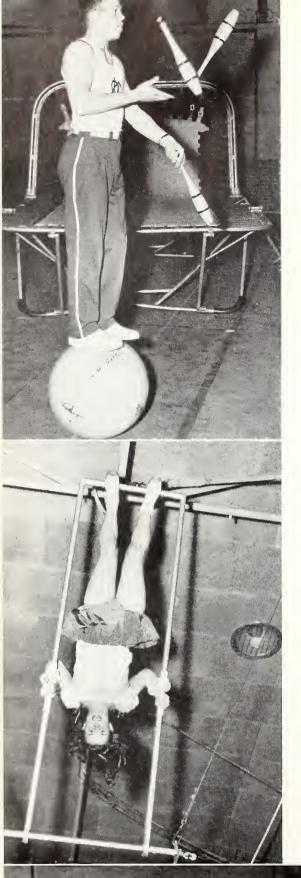

"Ta the victar . . ." belongs the hotchet, presented as a symbol of victary over Wesleyan at the Good Will dance.

Bill Johnson, Coral Martin, and Bab Calvin enact o tense scene from the Jesters' production of "All My Sans."

The December Religion and Life Canference brought dignitaries from all parts of the cauntry ta conduct infarmol sessians and public pragrams.

With subtle grace and valcanic fury Vladimir Harawitz perfarmed same of the most difficult compositions in a concert pianist's repertoire.

Gamma Phi Circus

Complete with feminine royalty and a professional ring master, the Gamma Phi circus entertained capacity crowds in McCormick gymnasium March 31 and April 1. Starting the show, Queen Joan Hodel and her four attendants marched across the gym floor in stately fashion, escorted by Gamma Phi men. Composing the court were Jan Turley, Jeanne Wilson, Pat Killian, and Dorothy Coatney.

With the queen's command that the circus begin, acrobats and props men took their places, prepared for a fast-moving performance. Gene Enos, whose professional experience added a flavor of the big top, announced the various numbers. Rosemary Ortman caused the spectators several moments of dizzying suspense as she swung back and forth in the upper reaches of the gym. Tom Douglass and his aerial "Perch Pole" act also thrilled the audiences. Several boys from the Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Children's School performed "Living Statuary." Painted from head to toe in gilt, they posed as athletes in sports of modern times and of ancient days.

Pat Meyer, as Madame Oats, scolded her "co-ed colts" — Lucy Lanham, Jean Putnam, Jan Fager, and Barbara Wolf — in a comedy routine. Phil Weber's "Globe Trotting" trapeze acts, trampoline numbers, tumbling by Pat and Rose Meyer — these were only a few of the attractions of the circus.

For entertainment between acts Clowns Phil McBain, John Shyrock, Ken Buss, and Jack Daley (also the star of the "Iron Jaw" antics) cavorted during the two evenings. Under the direction of Mr. Lowell Kuntz, the circus band played tirelessly through the entire performance.

Index

From the first click of the photographer's camera last summer to the final tap of the typewriter's keys this spring, the Index staff followed a schedule dictated by deadlines. Initiating the year's work, the cameramen took pictures of the 1949 commencement and of events during the ensuing summer term.

When classes opened in September, about eight volunteer workers met with the editors at semi-weekly sessions, which continued through the year. Then the wheels began to roll: a theme was chosen; the cover design and drawings for the division pages were started; blanks indicating information for write-ups were sent to all organizations; and the photographers, their cameras poised, traveled from football games to formal dances.

The copy suffered some last minute changes necessitated by the surprise vacation in February but was finally sent to the printers in a frenzied spring rush. Soon it was whisked back in its finished form—the 1950 INDEX.

Vidette

Continuing a tradition of outstanding collegiate journalism, an energetic Vidette staff this year conveyed much of its enthusiasm to the columns of the campus weekly. The average Vidette contained eight pages, but surprised readers found a twenty-page issue awaiting them at Homecoming and, months later, a two-page extra announcing the "coal vacation."

Columns sprouted throughout the paper during the year — among them "The Frying Pan," "P. E. Pointers," and "The Pressbox." A new nameplate in simple manuscript style appeared in January.

The editor-in-chief attended a national collegiate press convention at Detroit in October, and five others went to Champaign for the December meeting of the Illinois Collegiate Press Association. In March the paper received a first place rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. The annual spring banquet featured a skit prepared and produced by the journalism classes, as well as a talk by Mr. Charles Driver of the Daily Pantagraph.

Alumni Publications

Membership in the Alumni Association carries with it a subscription to the Alumni Quarterly, the official publication of the organization since 1912. Prepared by the university publicity and alumni staffs, the thirty-two page magazine was printed this year in September, November, February, and May by the University Press. Mrs. Gertrude M. Hall, the director of publicity, has edited the quarterly for the past fourteen years.

Both alumni and faculty members contributed articles to the four issues, each of which contained a news summary of campus activities and a news exchange about former students, with accounts of deaths, marriages, and new arrivals to alumni parents. Nelson Smith, the university photographer, supplied most of the pictures.

The Alumni Association also financed the I.S.N.U. News Letter, a six-page folder mailed (without charge) three times a year to all graduates, and Dear Freshman, a ten-page booklet sent to prospective students preceding the opening of classes in the fall to acquaint them with university traditions.

University Farm

Operated under the supervision of the agriculture department, the university farm covers 188 acres of land, part of which was donated by early citizens of Central Illinois, the rest having been secured by the state. Included in the fourteen buildings composing the farmstead are a dairy barn, horse barn, implement shed, garden house, cattle shelter, beef barn, swine barn, laying house, and a home for the manager, Mr. C. A. Mercier, and his family.

In addition to its use for training students, the farm serves as a demonstration center for groups of Central Illinois farmers and as a laboratory for agricultural experiments. The facilities for soil conservation on the farm include a drainage system of silt basins, spillways, and dams. Students receive instruction in leveling, drainage, contour farming, terracing, strip cropping, and farm mapping. A small area of the land serves as a wild life preserve.

A vital phase of the university's academic life, student teaching involves mare than standing behind a desk. In the picture at the left grade schaal pupils enjay a session of dancing as pasters and a map indicate their mare traditional classroam endeavors.

Excerpts From The Geography Field Course

DIARY (EASTERN TRIP - 1949)

June 24 — Normal, III. About 7:45 a.m. the Trippers started to assemble at the parking lot and to load the hand luggage. Because of conditions beyond our control, our departure was delayed. In fact, we were held up one hour.

June 24 — Evansville, Indiana. Breaking camp the first morning out is always an experience, and this was no exception. It wasn't too long, though, until the tents were empty, and we were eating breakfast. According to schedule, we were on our way by 8 o'clock.

June 26 — Mammoth Cave National Park, Kentucky. Geography-History Trippers from the University of Wisconsin visited camp tonight to compare notes on the respective itineraries of the two groups. We found they were seeing a lot of the same things we were but that their trip was shorter in duration.

July 6 — Gettysburg, Pa. Our guide helped us relive the 3-day battle at Gettysburg. Today the land is beautiful with its wooded areas, its wheat and corn fields and farm buildings. Were it not for the many monuments along the roads and in the fields, it would be difficult to imagine this as the battlefield for the fracas that was the turning point of the Civil War.

July 10 — New York City. Sailing down the Hudson, we got a clearer picture of the location of this 2 x 8 mile island of Manhattan. The Bowery, the financial section, the housing projects, hospitals, shipping yards, Staten, Bedlow,

Ellis and Welfare islands, Mayor O'Dwyer's home, N.Y.U., Columbia U., and many other points of interest were named as we turned north into East River, then into Harlem River and finally south again on the Hudson. As we got off the boat Prof. watched the group split many ways, his only admontion being 'Please get back to camp on time.'

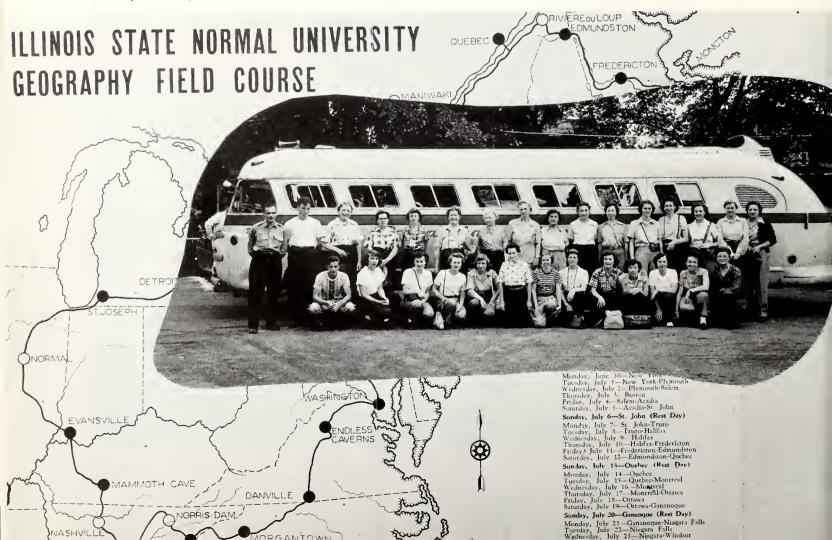

July 17 — St. John, New Brunswick. In order to keep warm and keep the bugs from biting we went to bed early.

July 20 — Halifax, Nova Scotia. At 6:15 this morning adventure on the sea had very little appeal for any of us. But as the morning progressed the appeal increased. We were motored out to open water and many of us were introduced to the enchantment of deep sea fishing. I suppose our jaunt should have been called "feeding deep sea fish." We were using herring for bait and giving the fish a good late-morning snack. All this leads up to the fact that we didn't catch any fish! We were shown all the water installations of Halifax and we saw the ocean liner Acquitania.

August 6 — Ann Arbor — Normal. This was a joyous yet sad day as some of us thought of getting home, and all of us thought about it being the last day together as a unit.

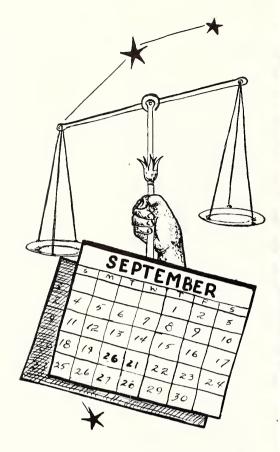

By way of summary, I think I can safely say that the only thing that dampened our spirits throughout the whole trip was the quantity of rain we had, and our spirits dried out faster than nylon as soon as the sun came out.

Campus Life

"But the days grow short when you reach September. . . . " And they were chilly, rainy days when the newcomers thronged to the campus for Freshman Week. "Let's see, I have my work permit, so now I'll go to that English test, and then I'll ask Betty about the party tonight." Despite the weather and their crowded schedule, the indefatigable freshmen found time to nibble caramel apples and to ride on the Octopus at the Tomato Festival. Classes began, and then Woody Herman topped off the month on a mellow note.

"... October's bright blue weather." The campus was bright, too: red and white badges decorated the honored gentlemen on Dad's Day; laughing WRA girls heaved their bedrolls on the bus to Lake Bloomington; and carefree dancers frolicked at the "Paul Bunyan Chop." In a more rustic mood Alan Lomax sang about a "Gray Goose."

After the gay week-end, classwork resumed in earnest, and jubilant Redbird fans soon cheered a decisive victory over Wesleyan with the tempting reward of an extra half day for Thanksgiving vacation.

"In December ring every day the chimes. . . . . Religion and education — basic elements of a wellrounded life. Over coffee and toast each morning during the Religion and Life Conference, off-campus leaders mapped out the day's agenda with the Committee of One Hundred. Such dignitaries as Dr. T. Z. Koo and the Sherwood Eddys graced the campus haunts. Soon the pulsating rhythms of "Green Eyes," "Johnson Rag," and Jimmy Dorsey's inimitable Dixieland stylings echoed through the gym. Christmas was approaching, and pastel clouds peeked out from behind blue and silver trees on Capen stage.

"Careful now, Phil!"

"All My Sons"

"Aloha, Lily ond Joyce!"

Dis n' data.

"It's June in January..." Well, they do have something in common — exams! Before the grueling ordeal, however, came Uday Shankar and his Hindu dancers. Say, did those little hollowed out drums double as dishes? From the ballet to the opera! Four music instructors from Wesleyan gave "The Barber of Seville" a strictly tongue-in-cheek treatment. An outstanding performance of "All My Sons" lit a preexam spark of suspense.

". . . save February, which has twenty-eight and . . ." . . . this year only ten days — of heat, that is. It began with rumors: "Oh, that simply can't be true." But it was, and school was closed — for two weeks? The coal strikes continued, though, and the familiar buildings were cold for almost a month. The Dixieland Jubilee brightened a somewhat gloomy pre-vacation spirit. Soon there was a call from West Palm Beach, Florida: "When do I have to come back?"

Top to bottom:

Monday of Cordinol Court?

Smithers' dither.

Bull's eye?

"It's ho-koy with me."
"I just con't donce fast ones."
White Room hormony.

Intermission smokers.

Miss Terrill entertoins.

Spring agoin!

"... the winds of March that make my heart a dancer..." Warm winds, this time, as heat again blew through the long-vacant halls and classrooms. The rescheduling of social events involved such a quirk of tradition as a Big Four dance on a Monday night! The Dick Jurgens appearance had been postponed from a coal-less date. The presence of Vladimir Horowitz on the campus was a just cause for awe. "If I could only play the piano like that..." Ah well, history abounds in if's.

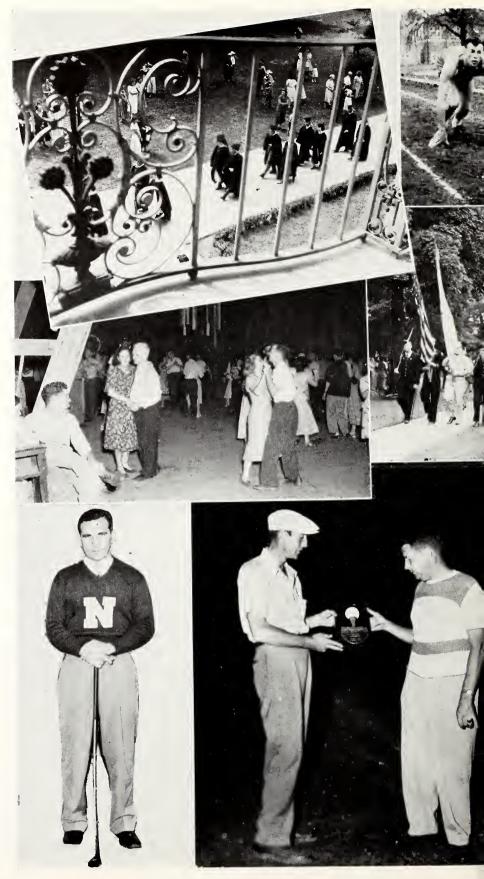

"... I'll remember April, and I'll smile." Probably so, because there was enough to make even the most solemn student smile — the Blackfriars' variety show, the annual cavortings of the Gamma Phi performers, and that small-scale Mardi Gras, the Women's League carnival. A few tears were shed for the lost Easter vacation, but spirits were generally undaunted. After all, it was spring!

"As full of spirit as the month of May . . . " the campus flaunted its spring apparel with abandon. Scarlet and purple flowers, framed in abundant grass, livened the grounds, which had experienced a somewhat dreary winter, with mudsplattered walks, kerosene flares, yawning cavities, and board paths detouring pedestrians. The annual stunt show, several formals, the Mother's Day service and reception, a barn dance for the Maize Grangers, the Newman Club's May supper — these matched the brightened spirit of the campus.

"And what is so rare as a day in June? Then, if ever, come perfect days." To many, it means three months behind a counter or at a typewriter; to some, just another break between terms; to others, the picture of summer by a lake or in the mountains; and to quite a few, a new place on the other side of the teacher's desk.

The finishing touch. Get off my foot. Hustin' Horry.

Hey, your shoe is untied. It's all over now. Now, don't drop it!

Show me the woy to go home.

Now the Student Union goes here.

Der Winners!

"But that oin't right."

Could this be Normol?

Sodie Hawkins' Doy — maybe?

Woy bock when.

But, cooch, I'm tired.

This is the end.

Acknowledgments

I wish to express sincere appreciation to the following individuals and organizations who contributed inestimable service toward production of the 1950 INDEX.

Owen Marsh, sales representative for PONTIAC ENGRAVING CO., for being an editor's right hand man.

Edward J. Bryan and the PANTAGRAPH PRINTING AND STATIONERY CO., for having endless patience and quantities of sound advice for a "green" staff.

Kingscraft Division of KINGSPORT PRESS, INC. for a truly fine job on the INDEX covers.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Watchinski and the CAMERA CRAFT STUDIOS for expert advice and execution of photographic detail.

Nelson Smith of the university publicity office, without whose help we would not have been able to portray as complete a picture of campus life.

Stuart Payne, I.S.N.U. junior, who came in at the eleventh hour to untangle and reorganize the sport sections.

Miss Vermell Wise, who gave so freely of her time and patience to advise and supervise the details of yearbook production.

Miss Alta Day and Mrs. Mary Parker, who competently guided the business and art staffs.

A staff of fine people who didn't tear their hair when they had every right to do so.

PRESTON HOTT Editor-in-chief
